

Typical residential production layout.

The production process is messy and prone to spillage.

Production can produce horrific and catastrophic results.

A general array of materials used in the production of crystal meth. No two batches are the same.

The production process can severely impact surfaces and fixtures.

Common products used to produce crystal meth.